WASHINGTON.

The President-Elect and the Prying Politicians.

More Rumors and Speculations Regarding the Cabinet.

Passage of the Copper Tariff Bill Over the Veto.

The Public Credit Bill Passed by the House.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Feb. 24.

There has been a vigorous current of comment and speculation to-day upon the few rather unimportant facts which Gen. GRANT has allowed to become public concerning the formation of his Cabinet. His headquarters were besieged at an early hour by a crowd of visitors, among whom were quite a number of Senators and Representatives, some of whom were hopeful of further developments. Representatives MASSON, MOORHEAD and PETTIS, of Pennsylvania, were among those who called. They expressed their gratification that Pennsylvania was to be represented in the Cabinet. Gen. GRANT replied that he had already fixed upon a gentleman from that State to a seat in his Cabinet, and should he not change his mind, would transmit his name to the Senate, but until then it would not be made public. The gentleman selected was not yet aware of the fact himself, and would not be until a day or two before his nomination, but the people of that State might rest assured that their State would be represented. Further attempts to fix the name failed, and the Representatives departed. To-night they feel pretty well assured that it will be a Philadelphia lawyer. It is proper to say that the reported conversations of yesterday were considerably exaggerated by those who pretend to have participated in them. Gen. GRANT is now undergoing a great deal of badgering and cross-questioning, with the express purpose of breaking down that reserve which he has so far successfully maintained. In this respect he has new to fight the hardest battle of his experience.

Out of all the mass of rumor, speculation and report, now grown into goodly-sized proportions, your correspondent is able to evolve a few facts concerning the Cabinet, which may be set down as facts, to wit: If there be but one Cabinet appointment for New-England, it will be given to Massachusetts. This much is certain, though nothing is known of the office or the man. The names now in most people's mouths are BOUTWELL and HOOPER for the Treasury, and RICE for the Navy. Pennsylvania will have a Cabinet appointment. That is also certain; and the belief to-night is that it will be one of Gen. GRANT's prominent personal friends in Philadelphia. Illinois will have a temporary appointment in the person of Gen. SCHOFIELD. That fixes, geographically, three Cabinet positions, and so much is fact. In addition it is assumed with good reason that one appointment will go to New-York, and as everybody believes, one to Iowa, in the person of Mr. WILSON, which would dispose of five, leaving but two others to be geographically divided between Ohio, Indiana, the Southern States and the Pacific Coast. DENNISON and HOLT are looked upon as best fitting this geographical division, and combining at the same time Grant-like elements. This much is the current talk here. One more fact for New-York can be added. Mr. EVARTS will not, as some people fear, be retained, though he would be an able and popular Secretary of State.

THE COPPER TARIFF BILL.

The veto of the Copper Tariff bill was read in the Senate to-day, after which a motion was made to pass it over the objections of the President. After a few words from Mr. GRIMES and others the roll was called, and resulted yeas 33, nays 13. The requisite two-thirds majority voted in the affirmative, so the bill became a law. Senator SUMNER's vote against the bill and in support of the President's veto caused some laughter. But to counterbalance this loss the Republicans got the vote of Senator PATTERSON, of Tennessee, the President's son-in-law, who went with the majority.

THE PUBLIC CREDIT BILL.

The contest on Gen. SCHENCK's bill to-day was very animated, but its triumph was very complete. Its message was resisted at every step by the large body of the Democrats and a small body of frightened Republicans. The motion to lay on the table was for the second time refused by yeas 58, nays 120; then to strike out the first section, which failed—yeas 66, nays 120; then to strike out the second section, legalizing gold contracts, which also failed; when the bill passed—yeas 119, nays 46. It is questionable if it will pass the Senate, but its passage by the House, where the greenback heresy is the strongest, is a subject of much congratulation.

THE ARMY BILL.

The Senate, during a portion of to-day and to-night, considered bills from the Military Committee. In Committee of the Whole it was agreed to reduce the number of Brigadier-Generals to eight; to leave with the President, instead of with the Secretary of War, the discretion to consolidate the regiments; to discharge fourteen military bands, and providing that the infantry regiments shall be reduced to thirty-five.

THE BANK BILL.

There is much feeling in the House on the Bank bill now pending under disagreement between the two Houses. A motion to suspend the rules, so as to agree to the Senate's request for a conference, was lost, but it will probably be seconded to when business on the Speaker's table is reached. Some of the Western men threaten that if the present demand is not complied with they will in the next Congress upset the whole system.

THE DIPLOMATIC APPROPRIATION BILL.

The Conference Committee on the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill has at last agreed upon a report.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The Conference Committee appointed to reconcile the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the Constitutional Amendment, discussed the subject this evening for an hour, and will meet again to-morrow for the same purpose. The general drift of the discussion was in favor of adopting the original proposition of the House, which was introduced by Mr. BINGHAM, and it is more than probable that the Committee will so report to-morrow.

RIVER AND HARBOR APPROPRIATION.

The River and Harbor Appropriation bill was reported to the Senate to-day. Among the items is $215,000 for the removal of obstructions in the Hudson River, and at Hell Gate. The whole sum appropriated by the bill amounts to $2,500,000.

CONSULAR AND DIPLOMATIC.

The Senate this afternoon, by a vote of 24 to 11, refused to take the contract for printing the Records of Congress from Messrs. RIVES & NAST, and gave the work over to the Government Printing Office. The resolution of Mr. WILSON authorizing the Committee on Printing to continue the contract with these gentlemen for two years from the 4th of March next, was adopted. This indicates that the present manner of reporting the debates will be continued. The cost under the bid of Messrs. RIVES & BAILEY is twice greater than the Government estimate, but the feeling against allowing the public to become the subject of political control is very strong, and induces the continuance of the present method.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN MISSIONS.

The vexed question of the establishment of the South American Missions was finally compromised by providing that the grade of our representatives to the Republics of Mexico, San Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, in Central America and Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru and Uruguay, in South America, should be that of Commissioner, with a salary of $5,000 per year each. Chili remains undisturbed, and KILPATRICK may rest in peace. A majority agree to the report, but Mr. SUMNER refuses to sign it, all business at his end being stopped.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

The protective statesmanship, who have been so badly damaged by the recent report of Special Commissioner WELLS, sought last night to vent their spleen by smuggling through an amendment to the Civil Appropriation bill, striking out the salary to the office. This morning the thing was sprung in a full House, and Mr. WELLS' office continued to June 30, 1870, which is the period fixed by the law creating the office. This is a favorite mode of attack of these people. When they find themselves unable to meet facts and arguments, they resort to the stabbing process. It is a practice grown up out of the demoralization consequent upon the antagonism between Mr. JOHNSON and Congress, and ought to be abandoned by all honorable men.

POLITICAL DISABILITIES.

The Judiciary Committee of the Senate decided to-day to consider no more bills for the removal of political disabilities during the present session of Congress. The Committee also resolved to take no further action on any of the bills referred to them, and in view of the shortness of the session to take up only the measures which it is deemed absolutely essential to pass before the 4th of March.

GEN. SHERMAN.

Lieut.-Gen. W. T. SHERMAN was to leave St. Louis this morning with his family, en route for Washington. The General is expected to arrive here at noon on Friday next, with his eldest daughter, but his family will stop in Ohio until after the inauguration of Gen. GRANT. The residence of Gen. GRANT on I-street, which has been purchased for Gen. SHERMAN, with furniture, will be at once put in readiness for him. Gen. SHERIDAN is expected about the same time.

THE SHIP METEOR.

Mr. PATTERSON, of New-Hampshire, was instructed by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which had had under consideration the petition of J. M. Rodgers and others, asking to be indemnified for losses incurred by the detention of the ship Meteor, to report back the bill to further define and amend an act for the punishment of crimes against the United States, and to ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the papers, but desire that the papers may be recommitted to the Committee for further consideration at the next Congress, as the subject is a very grave one, and needs further consideration.

THE REVENUE COMMISSIONERSHIP.

The announcement that Hon. COLUMBUS DELANO will be appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue has no official authority to rest upon, as both Gen. GRANT and Mr. DELANO aver that it is unauthorized. There is the best of reason for believing, however, that it is only premature, and that among the earliest appointments to be made will be that of Mr. DELANO to the position named. His eminent fitness is every where conceded, and the public here is willing to accept the statement that the announcement is unauthorized, in the conviction that it is soon to be an official and accomplished fact.

THE ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

The bill repealing the section of the law providing that the Army Headquarters shall be established at Washington, and that no orders to the army shall be issued by the President except through the General of the Army, was passed.

GEN. GRANT'S STAFF.

The statement that Gen. GRANT's staff officers would all resign when the General surrenders his office is not correct. There is no necessity for it, because, with the exception of the Chief of Staff, these officers are all on duty under orders, and when no longer required at headquarters become subject to assignment to other duty, or to an order to join their commands.

MR. GRISWOLD'S RECEPTION.

An elegant dinner party was given to-night by Hon. JOHN A. GRISWOLD, at which were present Senators MORGAN, CONKLING and CHANDLER, Senator elect FENTON, Special Commissioner WELLS, Representatives BUTLER, ALLISON and LOGAN, and Ex-Representative BARRY.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Feb. 24.

MEXICAN CLAIMS.

Official publication is made to-day of the ratified Convention between the United States and Mexico providing for an adjustment of the claims of citizens of either country against the other. The claims are to be referred to two Commissioners—one of whom is to be appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the other by the President of Mexico. They are to meet in Washington, and may choose an umpire in cases of disagreement. No claim arising out of a transaction of a date prior to Feb. 2, 1848, shall be admissible under this Convention.

REMOVAL OF HENRY WIRZ.

The President to-day gave an order to LEWIS SCHADE, Esq., for the remains of HENRY WIRZ, who was executed in the Old Capitol Prison in November, 1865, having been convicted by a military commission of conspiracy and murder while in command of the rebel prison at Andersonville, and buried in the arsenal grounds, and this afternoon the body was removed by an undertaker.

ILLEGAL REGISTRATION.

The Grand Jury of the District of Columbia has found true bills against seventeen persons for illegally registering their names at the late municipal election.

THE INAUGURATION.

A special meeting of the City Council is called for to-morrow to take action concerning the inauguration. It is said that a committee of New-York Councilmen will visit Washington that day, and be the guests of the city.

INTERNAL REVENUE DECISIONS.

It is not believed at the Office of Internal Revenue that the intention of Congress to prohibit the sale by retail of snuff from bladders or jars stamped according to law. The office will interpose no objection to dealers retailing snuff from such stamped packages. Cordials and coke are regarded as manufactures, the sales of which are taxable under section 4 of the act of March 31, 1866.

THE FOURTH NATIONAL BANK OF PHILADELPHIA.

The Fourth National Bank of Philadelphia, the doors of which were reported closed yesterday morning, wound up its affairs as a depository of Government funds on the 1st of September, and everything relating thereto was satisfactorily settled.

The Comptroller of the Currency has instructed Special Agent HENRY COLLINGS, of New-York, to examine and report all the facts relating to the alleged defalcation.

THE REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

The caucuses of both the Republican and Democratic Representatives in Congress will be held about Tuesday next, the 1st of March. All new members of the House are expected and urged to be in Washington as early as Monday, the 1st of March.

ARMY APPOINTMENTS.

The President to-day transmitted to the Senate a large number of appointments in the army, among them John T. Sprague, Thomas Wilson, Milton Cogswell, Richard N. Batchelder, Allen Rutherford and Robert Avery, to be Brigadier-Generals by brevet. Also the last named to be Major-General by brevet, for gallant and meritorious services. These are many other brevet appointments pending in the Senate.

THE SUPREME COURT.

In the Supreme Court of the United States the following cases were considered to-day, to-wit:

No. 32—The United States, appellants, vs. Samuel Wilson; appeal from the Court of Claims. On motion of the Assistant Attorney-General, Mr. Dickey, defendant in error, the appeal is dismissed.

No. 33—The United States, appellants, vs. Samuel P. Piatty; appeal from the Court of Claims. On motion of Mr. Dickey, defendant in error, ordered by the Court that the decree of the said Court of Claims in this cause be reversed and the cause remanded to the Court of Claims with directions to enter judgment for the defendant in error.

No. 34—The United States of the Supreme Court of New-York, plaintiff in error, vs. The United States, on the Robert Murray.—This cause was argued by Mr. Attorney-General Stanbery for the plaintiff in error, and submitted on printed arguments by Mr. Attorney-General Hoar and Mr. Boyd, of counsel for the defendant in error.

No. 35—Thomas E. Boyd et al., appellants, vs. Oliver Moore et al.—This cause was argued by Mr. Beaufort, of counsel for the appellants, and by Mr. Owen, for the appellees.

No. 36—Samuel Skaggs, plaintiff in error, vs. The State of North Carolina.—In error to the Supreme Court of the State of North Carolina. Ordered by the Court that these writs of error be dismissed, with costs, pursuant to the eighth rule of this Court.

No. 37—Wm. N. Whitely et al., appellants, vs. Wm. A. Keyes et al.—Appeal from the Circuit Court. This cause was commenced by Mr. E. S. Fisher, of counsel for the appellants.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

THIRD SESSION.

SENATE.....WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Feb. 24.

Mr. TRUMBULL, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported, and the Committee was discharged from the further consideration of the petition, &c., asking legislation to meet the existing state of affairs in Georgia.

GOVERNMENT OF MISSISSIPPI.

Mr. TRUMBULL, from the Judiciary Committee, reported, without amendment, the bill introduced last July, providing for a more efficient Provisional Government for Mississippi.

If vacates the offices under the present Government, and provides that the persons who received a majority of the votes cast for members of the Legislature of the Convention, &c., shall enter upon their respective offices, provided they can take the oath of July 2, 1862; otherwise the claimant of the offices for which it shall be ascertained shall be entitled, upon receiving the next highest number of votes, if he can take said oath. The second section makes it the duty of the military commander of the district to see that the foregoing provisions are immediately carried into effect.

WRITS OF ERROR.

Mr. TRUMBULL, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported with amendments, Mr. COLE's bill to further the administration of justice.

It provides that no final judgment or decree of a Circuit or District Court shall be reviewed by the United States Supreme Court, by writ of error, or appeal, unless the sum or value in dispute shall exceed two hundred dollars, exclusive of costs, except in cases in which the validity of a patent or copyright may be in question, or in which the liberty of a person is in dispute, or in which the construction of a law of the United States is involved, or in which a Territorial court is concerned, or in which the United States are plaintiffs, or in which a State is a party, and declares what shall constitute an application for a bill of exceptions, and provides that the defendants may be found guilty of offenses, the commission of which is necessarily included in those charged in the indictment.

THE POSTAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, reported without amendment the Postal Service Appropriation bill.

ADVERSE REPORTS.

Mr. TRUMBULL, from the same Committee, reported adversely to the bill to define felonies and misdemeanors and to regulate peremptory challenge in United States cases, on the ground that the objects of the bill are already provided for in the statutes. Also adversely to the bill to preserve the quality of elections in the Territories, on the ground that there is not sufficient time at this session to maintain such a bill.

THE McGARRAHAN CLAIM.

Mr. WILLIAMS, from the Committee on Private Land Claims, made an adverse report, introduced by him and Mr. FERRY, on the claim of WILLIAM McGARRAHAN. He said that the Senator from Louisiana (Mr. KELLOGG) and the Senator from South Carolina (Mr. SAWYER) would make a favorable report upon the claim, and that as the Senator from Delaware (Mr. BAYARD) declined to have anything to do with the matter, the Committee were unable to arrive at any decision, and must therefore leave the matter wholly to the action of the Senate.

PHILOSOPHICAL APPARATUS, &c.

Mr. SHERMAN called up the bill reported yesterday, to admit, free of duty, philosophical apparatus, books and charts imported in good faith for the use of educational institutions.

Mr. CONKLING moved to add, "And chimes of bells of kinds not made in this country."

Mr. GRIMES opposed the amendment and bill; and after a brief discussion the bill was laid over.

A TERRITORIAL PRISON.

On motion of Mr. NYE, the bill to authorize the selection of a site for a Territorial prison in Idaho was taken up and passed.

THE COPPER TARIFF BILL.

A message from the President of the United States was received and read, vetoing the Copper Tariff bill.

The bill was then passed over the veto, yeas 33, nays 13.

THE PUBLIC PRINTING.

The Senate then proceeded to consider the joint resolutions reported by the Joint Committee on Printing, to provide for reporting and printing the debates of the next Congress.

Mr. ANTHONY said that the Committee had not been able to come to a unanimous conclusion on the subject, and had, therefore, decided to report two resolutions, leaving Congress to choose between concluding a new contract with the lowest bidder, Mr. CROWELL, and having the work done at Government Printing Office. The Committee had no preference between these, recommend either plan, and in deciding to make no change, it should be remembered that the present publishers of the Globe had done their work very well and satisfactorily.

Mr. WADE said that as a member of the Committee, he had carefully investigated the subject, and was satisfied the only proper course Congress could take would be to direct the Joint Committee on Printing to make a new contract with RIVES & BAILEY, the present publishers of the Globe, and he offered an amendment directing the Committee to make a contract with RIVES & BAILEY for a term of years, on the lowest bid. The choice, in his judgment, lay between these two houses and the Government Printing Office; because it seemed to him idle to consider the proposition of Mr. CROWELL, a gentleman living in a distant city, and having neither an establishment nor facilities which to do the work, or any one else; and as between RIVES & BAILEY and the Congressional Printer he was in favor of choosing the former, because they had already demonstrated their ability to do the work well, and also because he thought the interests of the Public Printing Office would be best subserved by the contract, particularly the binding, being executed so absurdly low figure, and one item (folding) not being included at all.

Mr. MORTON asked him to state the difference between the bid of RIVES & BAILEY and the estimate of the Public Printer, reported yesterday.

Mr. WADE replied that it was about $40,000.

Mr. ANTHONY said that the Public Printer had stated to him the estimate for binding (fifty-two cents a volume) included folding also.

Mr. WADE said that if so the estimate was simply ridiculous, because the work could not be done for that price.

Mr. CAMERON was in favor of sending the work to the Government Printing Office as a measure of economy. He understood that if the appropriation of $89,000, already asked for on account of the Public Printing Office were granted, no further addition would be necessary in order to do this work.

Mr. HENDRICKS asked the Chairman of the Committee on Printing (Mr. ANTHONY) why Mr. CROWELL was not here to plead his cause, and some previous connection with public printing.

Mr. ANTHONY said that the Committee had not gone into the biography of Mr. CROWELL, but that gentleman had been highly recommended by Messrs. APPLETON, of New-York, and the publishers of the New-York Times. He had been connected with public printing.

Mr. CAMERON said that publishers of the Globe had made large fortunes for three successions, and as an economical change must be made some time, he was in favor of making it now. The question was simply whether RIVES should be given for each Congress.

Mr. HAMMONDS said the Committee had estimated that it would be only fifteen and not fifty-three thousand large enough to pay for taking down and putting up the printing change.

Mr. MORRILL of Vermont, did not believe that anything would be done with the printing, publishers of the Globe to be the worst Public Printers, on the contrary, he believed RIVES & BAILEY would make the Government office, instead of paying $40,000 for each Congress, would probably run behind one year. He was in favor of allowing the Committee on Public Printing to make a new contract with the present publishers of the Globe.

Mr. HOWARD took the same view. The publishers of the Globe had done their work so well, and that work required so much skill, judgment and experience to do it well, that Congress should not hastily make a change. He knew nothing about the fortunes made by the Globe publishers, but he hoped they had made a considerable amount of money, because such long and faithful and satisfactory service deserved that reward.

Mr. SHERMAN said he never would have proposed to establish a Government printing office. To publish the debates and proceedings of Congress; but, there being already such an office, he thought the Government work should be done in his opinion there should be no doubt would have the Congressional Printer publish the Globe.

Mr. WILLIAMS and STEWART were opposed to taking the work from the present publishers.

Mr. HAMMONDS had not much confidence in the accuracy of the public printer's estimates, and he believed that if the work should be sent to the Government Printing Office, it would cost much more than it now does.

Mr. CONKLING would go some distance on old and faithful servants who had served him for twenty years, so to take the work away from the present publishers, who had done their work so well.

Mr. MORTON said that all Governmental experience had shown that Government work could be done more cheaply by making competents with responsible individuals than by the Government, and he preferred to let this case to let well enough alone.

Mr. WADE's amendment was modified so as to authorize the Joint Committee on Printing to make a satisfactory contract with RIVES & BAILEY, the present publishers of the Globe, for reporting and printing the debates and proceedings of Congress for two years from the 4th of March next, and in that form the bill was passed by a vote of 32 yeas to 11 nays.

THE ARMY BILL.

The amendments reported by the Committee on Appropriations were agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON then offered an amendment reducing the number of infantry regiments to 35; the number of Brigadier-Generals to 8; fixing the term of enlistment at five years; mustering out of the service about fourteen infantry regiments, and providing that the President shall consolidate the regiments as rapidly as the requirements of the public service will permit. Agreed to.

Mr. GRIMES offered an amendment, which was agreed to, striking out the provision against making new appointments in the Ordnance, Engineer and Medical Departments.

Mr. SUMNER moved to add an additional section authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to audit and pay the interest account of Maine and Massachusetts for advances made by Massachusetts, then including Maine, to the United States during the war of 1812-'15.

Mr. GRIMES raised the point of order that this was substantially a private claim, being for the benefit of a railway company, and that therefore it could not under the rules, be tacked on to the pending Appropriation bill.

Mr. SUMNER maintained that this being the claim of a State was not a private but a public claim. What he proposed was that the Senate should provide for the payment of an outstanding interest account due to Massachusetts for her services during the war of 1812, and the question of the justice of the claim or the propriety of providing for it this year was not at all affected by the fact that Massachusetts had generously appropriated the proceeds of the claim to the construction of a very important railroad, by which the general interests of the country would be advanced.

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Private Land Claims, made the joint resolution of the House, reported a favorable report, signed by himself and Mr. KELLOGG, favorable to the claim of Wm. McGARRAHAN.

Mr. SUMNER thought the amendment to the pending bill offered by the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. WILSON) could not be tacked on.

Mr. FESSENDEN took the opposite view, and the question of order was discussed until 6 o'clock, when the Senate took a recess until 7 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. WILSON, as Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, called up the following bills and resolutions, which were passed:

BILLS PASSED.

The House bill providing that Brevet Commissions shall be issued only in time of war.

The joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to provide for the maintenance of cemeteries at Antietam and Gettysburg.

The joint resolution dropping from the army roll certain officers, absent three months or longer, without leave.

The bills continuing the Freedmen's hospitals at Richmond and other points for the month, until the 30th of June next, and longer if necessary.

The bill declaring and fixing the salaries of the corps of Judge-Advocates.

The bill repealing the law requiring the General of the Army to reside always in Washington, and requiring the orders to the army shall go to the army through him.

WALKER D. FLOWDEN.

Mr. WILSON called up the House joint resolution authorizing the payment of $1,000 to WALKER D. FLOWDEN, a colored scout and spy, for services during the war.

Mr. DAVIS wished to know what the spy's service was.

Mr. WILSON had read the report of the Committee on Claims reciting the services and sufferings of the claimant, showing that he had served as a scout and spy for four years, of which time he was in prison fifteen months.

Mr. DAVIS said that he had heard of our white soldiers had done and suffered as much, as Mr. FLOWDEN, moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. POMEROY said $1,000 was altogether too little compensation for such services and suffering; it ought to have been $5,000. If he had been a white soldier he would be entitled to a pension.

Mr. DAVIS said that the Pension law was the same for the white as the black soldier.

Mr. POMEROY said yes, but the man was not a soldier at all, but only a scout and spy, and therefore not entitled to a pension.

Mr. WILSON said the man had lost his health in the service of the country, and was now living on charity.

Mr. DAVIS withdrew his motion to recommit the bill, and it was passed.

The following bills from the Committee on Military Affairs were also passed:

The House bill in relation to additional bounties.

The bill to remove the charge of desertion from certain soldiers of the North Carolina mounted infantry.

THE PAY OF MILITARY INSTRUCTORS.

The House bill to define the pay of officers of the Army, detailed to act as military instructors in colleges and universities, was taken up, discussed and passed at the same time, and then laid on the table.

Several private bills were considered and passed.

The Senate at 10:30 o'clock adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. WOODS, of New-York, presented the petition of citizens of New-York and Brooklyn in favor of an appropriation for the removal of obstructions at Hell-Gate, referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. POLAND, of Vermont, from the Committee on the Revision of the Laws, reported a bill establishing the term of office for the House of Representatives and for the biennial sessions of the Legislature of the Territory of Montana.

Mr. FARNSWORTH, of Illinois, from the Committee on Post Office and Post Roads, reported back the several bills referred to that Committee relative to a postal telegraph between Washington and New-Orleans, and the bills were ordered to be printed and laid on the table.

THE FORT COLLINS RESERVATION.

Mr. JULIAN, of Indiana, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill declaring that the lands consisting of the Fort Collins Military Reservation, Colorado Territory, shall be subject to the Preemption and Homestead laws. Passed.

THE PUBLIC CREDIT BILL.

The House then resumed the consideration of the unfinished business of yesterday, it being the bill to strengthen the public credit, and to legalize gold contracts, on which Mr. PAINE, of New-York, had the floor. He said he was surprised at listening to the speech of the gentleman from Ohio, (Mr. SCHENCK,) that he did not continue himself as the first section of the bill, but went on to discuss the subject of gold speculators in the scope. He thought the first section of the bill went too far in view of the present condition of the country.

Mr. LOGAN, of Illinois, said in the short time there was time to discuss this question as a legal question. If we intend that we shall ever resume specie payments, it is well that we should let the world know of it now. This question had been before the country for nearly two years, and it might as well be settled now as at any other time. He supposed that there was no man in this country now who believed that the best plan was to pay our bonds with a new indebtedness. He (Mr. LOGAN) had assumed that we should never, and was never believed that the payment of the debt with another debt would be no payment at all. It is tiresome to discuss the question any longer. It is nonsense to talk of paying $2,000,000,000 of bonds in at any millions of greenbacks. We had better let the world know by some declaration that we intend to pay our debts in hard money—not in depreciated paper currency. Gen. LOGAN argued at some length in favor of the passage of the bill.

Mr. COBURN, from Indiana, protested against the passage of the bill. The bill was to strengthen the public credit; in such way was needed? It is good enough now. The bill authorizing the issue of greenbacks made them a legal tender for all debts of the Government except interest on the bonds, which specifies gold coin. Gold was the standard of value. The greenbacks were not the standard. This law is unwrought up, and it is not necessary to look into the law authorizing the issue of the bonds. The question of funding the public debt was involved in this issue. The holders of bonds paid a gross income of six per cent will consider the change in public faith, of four per cent, cruelty, especially foreign holders. The issue of millions has fully demonstrated that funding the debt at a lower interest rate alone on this idea. Gold contracts will increase the price of gold, double the demand for it, and leave in our country a speculation on credit, and ends with a measure like this will destroy it.

Mr. DELANO argued in favor of the bill. He said the first section pledged the faith of the United States to pay in coin, or its equivalent, all the interest-bearing obligations of the United States, except in cases where the law authorizes the bonds shall be paid in lawful money or in other currency than gold and silver. He said that all efforts to create paper into money were futile and mischievous, come from whatever quarter they may. He was asked why he voted this declaration of faith, and he answered because the conduct of certain political financiers and of individuals had induced it necessary.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, said he would vote for the bill. He regretted that there was not time to say a few words. He contended that the Democratic party had always been the friend of liberty, and that it was not until the days of the Republican domination that the country was flooded by an irredeemable paper currency.

After some further remarks by Messrs. JONES, BROOMWELL and BROOMALL.

Mr. SCHENCK, of Ohio, moved the previous question on the bill and amendments.

Mr. SHANKS, of Indiana, moved that the bill be laid upon the table. Not agreed to—yeas 58, nays 120.

Mr. MINSHALL, of Indiana, moved to strike out the enacting section of the bill. Not agreed to—yeas 64, nays 120.

The vote was then taken on the motion of Mr. ALLISON, to strike out the second section of the bill, and it was defeated—yeas 66, nays 66.

The question was then taken on the passage of the bill, the vote resulting—yeas 119, nays 46. So the bill passed. The following is the vote in full:

YEAS—Messrs. Allison, Ames, Anderson, Arnell, J. M. Ashley, D. R. A CHANGE OF TIME.

At the suggestion of Mr. SCHENCK, by unanimous consent, it was agreed that after to-morrow the House would meet at 11 o'clock A. M. instead of at 12.

THE INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Senate amendments to the Indian Appropriation bill, which were referred to the Committee of the Whole, and made the special order after to-morrow.

THE LEGISLATIVE APPROPRIATION BILL.

On motion of Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, the House resolved into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill, Mr. SCHENCK in the chair.

Mr. ALLISON, of Iowa, moved to amend the proviso adopted last evening relative to striking out the appropriation for the salary of the Special Agent of the Treasury, by inserting the words, "after June 30, 1869."

After debate by Messrs. ALLISON, KELLEY, PIKE and MOORHEAD, the amendment was adopted.

Mr. STOVER, of Missouri, moved to reduce the appropriation for the miscellaneous items of the Treasury Department from $60,000 to $5,000. Adopted.

Mr. SCOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Appropriations, moved to insert the following:

For the Commissioner of Education, $5,000; for two clerks of Class 1, $2,400; for contingent expenses, $600; in all, $8,000. Adopted.

Mr. PRICE, of Iowa, moved to strike out the appropriation for the Surveyor-General of Utah Territory. Adopted.

Mr. KELSEY, of New-York, moved to insert under the head of appropriations for the Patent Office:

For one Superintendent of Drawings for the annual report, $2,500. Adopted.

Mr. MYERS, of Pennsylvania, moved to increase the salaries of the First Assistant Examiners in the Patent Office to $3,000 each, per annum, which was rejected.

On motion of Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, the Committee arose, when

D. W. REEVES AND J. H. BELL.

Mr. BLAIR, of Michigan, offered two resolutions, one discharging Mr. D. W. REEVES, a recusant witness, arrested for refusing to testify before the Select Committee on the New-York election frauds, from the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, and the other discharging J. H. BELL, arrested for a similar cause from the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, on the payment of the costs of his arrest. Both resolutions were adopted.

OHIO RIVER BRIDGES.

Mr. WILSON, of Ohio, offered a resolution, that the Committee on Roads and Canals be authorized to print the testimony on the proper length of spans for bridges across the Ohio River.

Mr. PRICE, of Iowa, thought objection was made.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill.

Pending the consideration of the bill the House took a recess till 7:30 o'clock this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

LEGISLATIVE APPROPRIATION BILL.

It being ascertained that no quorum was present, the Committee rose and Mr. KELSEY, of New-York, moved a call of the House. The roll having been called a quorum answered to their names, and the House again went into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill.

Mr. KELSEY, of New-York, moved to increase the number of second-class clerks in the Patent Office from thirty-two to thirty-five, which was adopted. Also, to increase the number of first-class clerks from twenty-six to forty.

Mr. SCOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, moved to amend by inserting the words "female clerks." He argued that women should be appointed to the departments and not driven, as they often were to the extreme West to seek employment.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts—Don't you think the women wanted more to go to Montana to marry bachelors than here? [Laughter.]

The amendment of Mr. AYNAR was rejected, and that of Mr. KELSEY adopted.

On motion of Mr. KELSEY the following amendments were adopted:

Striking out the appropriation for temporary clerks in the Patent Office, and inserting for thirteen copyists of drawings at $1,000 each, and fifteen copyists at $900 each.

Mr. BROWNRIDGE, of Michigan, moved to amend by inserting an appropriation of $18,000 to enable the Commissioner of Agriculture to continue the investigation of the cattle disease, which was rejected.

Mr. POLAND, of Vermont, moved to increase the salaries of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States as follows:

The salary of Chief Justice to $10,500 per annum; that of each Associate Justice to $10,000 per annum; which was rejected.

Mr. CHANLER, of New-York, moved to increase the salaries of United States District Judges for the Eastern District of the State of New-York to $4,000 per annum; which was rejected.

Mr. DICKEY, of Pennsylvania, opposed cutting down the estimates of the Department below last year's Appropriations for contingent judgments, as the committee had stated, in their evidence, as it would inevitably lead to a large deficiency bill next year, to be charged to the Administration of Gen. GRANT, and it was bad policy on the part of his friends.

Mr. SCOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, replied that the Committee had acted upon the best information it had in its possession, and that Gen. GRANT had a fair reputation already without giving him a chance to make any in this way.

Mr. POLAND, of Vermont, offered the following:

For the payment of claims for the use, rent, or waste and loss of property, or other property taken for a military or naval purpose, or employed by or furnished to the Government of the United States, and that said party or parties shall be grounded in the construction, erection, preservation or repair of any bridge, or in the construction of any road, road bed, road way, or road, or a fleet in building, when the Government enters the field it will encourage a competition of not less than three bids, and that compensation for the use of the same shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, and that the Government may make something else. What right or property is there in granting him a charter? Government and Congress are responsible for the work of making money, element in the situation which would be wanting if the government should have been left to the people. The responsibility of the Government is not to make a profitable business of it, and how is

AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

St. Valentine's Day—Parliament—Concerning Trade—The Treatment of Criminals—Spiritualism—Mme. Rachel—The Working Classes.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 6, 1869.

The birds have celebrated St. Valentine's Day a month this year, and are now filling the sunny mornings with their songs. When they saw the leaf buds and crocuses putting out, they thought it time to build and make love, and it seems that the natural way to do that is to have it set to music, as in operas and vaudevilles, whose time art brings us back to nature. The shop windows, of course, are full of the pictorial valentines—the cheap ones usually comic, and often coarse and indecent. It is to be noted, however, that while the actions and sentimentalities run up in price to shillings and even sovereigns, the comic and satirical ones seldom exceed a penny. Illustrate is economical, while true love is apt to be expensive. We have had hardly one week of wintry weather, and now (it is Spring) so that in the first week of February Emerson's "May" is seasonable reading.

PARLIAMENT.

Parliament is to meet on the 16th, and very important business is promised by Mr. GLADSTONE immediately. This means that his bill for the disestablishment of the Irish Church is ready. The Irish Bishops, who seem to have thought up to this time that it was "not much of a shower," are now alarmed. They have implored the Queen to assemble them in convocation. Her Majesty's Ministers have not advised her to comply with their request. They will meet, notwithstanding, and take measures to meet the crisis—but what can they do? A triumphant Minister and an overwhelming majority in the House of Commons, are against them. All they can do is to put their house in order, fold their robes about them, and die with decency. The Irish Church, maintained for three centuries out of taxes paid by an unwilling people, will at last be thrown upon its own resources. From many dioceses it will be quite withdrawn. In the hundreds of parishes where the only Protestants are the families of the Squire and the Parson, where from six to ten persons make the entire congregation, the service can scarcely be kept up. Missionary zeal will do much. Even with the great revenues of the Establishment, some $30,000 a year are contributed in England to convert Irish Papists, with the effect of making them more numerous now, in proportion to the population, than at any former period. The souper system has been well worked, but I see that two zealous ladies who own an island near Galway, have been trying the effect of starvation. They have a population of about 3,000, and their bread comes from the mainland. The only boat allowed to ply belongs to these ladies, and all the bread is dealt out by the Protestant parson, who refuses to furnish it to Papists. There seemed no other way but for them all to either eat their fish and potatoes without bread, or become good Protestants. While considering the matter, however, they have memorialized the Home Secretary to see if the Government cannot find some way to break down the monopoly and give them a little of what we boast so much of—free trade and religious liberty.

CONCERNING TRADE.

The importers of German beer have also appealed to the Home Secretary respecting the high duty charged upon that delightful beverage, which, contrary to all free-trade professions, gives a large protection to English brewers. It was an oversight, no doubt; for no one ever expected to see foreign beer in England, any more than foreign-made iron or foreign-spun cotton. The beer is a trifle. English brewers may learn to imitate the Germans, but the iron and cotton competition is a serious matter; and a wail has risen from Manchester, the very centre of the free-trade doctrines, telling us that free trade is a failure. The balance of trade between England and France is $16,000,000 sterling against England. French houses exporting cotton yarns have been opened in Manchester, and can undersell the largest English manufacturers. The cotton trade is a failure. It is as clear as the light that America can manufacture every pound of cotton she grows, and it is also clear that India and China will do the same. England will burn out she remainder of her coal in some way no doubt, but I think her true mission for the next few centuries is colonization. Australia, South Africa, Canada, perhaps South America, will afford an abundant outlet for her surplus population, and a field for all her civilizing energies. This is the remedy for the ever-increasing and appalling pauperism—far better than the Poor law, which we are now told is "a huge, increasing, ruinous system, turning rate-payers into rate-consumers, and paupers into knaves, daily growing worse." So colonization, systematically expanded, will carry off that superfluous energy which now develops into crime. Let the London garrotters have a chance to fight in New-Zealand, or try their lugging system on gorillas, and they would become the heroes of future romances. Life is too tame a commonplace here. In India a railway accident may have a spice of novelty. For example, the other night a railway train was approaching a corral, where seventy elephants were tied up. They heard the roar of the approaching train and the shrill shriek of the steam whistle, and were greatly excited, trying to get loose. Soon they saw the glare of the two great fiery eyeballs of the locomotive, and an old elephant, breaking from his fastenings, got upon the line and with his head and tusks met the onset. Of course he was quickly smashed, but the locomotive and several cars were thrown off the track and the fireman unhappily killed.

THE TREATMENT OF CRIMINALS.

Among the numerous delegations to the Home Secretary was a large one this week on the treatment of criminals. They told Mr. BRUCE that there are now 112,400 professional criminals at large, and in the Metropolis 2,320 receivers of stolen goods, and 4,620 lodging-houses for thieves. Mr. BRUCE hoped the numbers were not increasing, for he found by his returns that there were 800 criminals less than the previous year. But crime, it is certain, has in it little risk; the punishment is not cared for; the worst criminals are among the gold prisoners, who have adopted crime as a profession in preference to labor, and who make no secret of their preference. They consider open theft as good as the ordinary cheating, if not as respectable, and that sort of respectability is just what they do not care for. Thieves have their own society, places of meeting, public houses, amusements. They have their own public opinion, and care little for any other. The war now going on between the openly dishonest and the supposed honest, or reputable members of society, resembles the border warfare of centuries ago, on that common to new settlements with neighboring savage tribes. There will be, I think, a change of tactics soon—public prosecutors appointed, receiving houses broken up, longer terms of imprisonment. If England should be made too warm for the fraternity, you may expect a large emigration to America.

SPIRITUALISM.

At this moment, next to the Ritualist controversy, I am inclined to think that the most exciting topic in London society is Spiritualism. It has even been brought into the new philosophical society, the Dialectical, which has several young Lords among its members, if no elderly soap-boilers. Making a call in Paternoster-row the other morning, I met a barrister of some literary and scientific as well as legal reputation and social position, who gave me an account of some recent manifestations in the presence of Mr. HOME, which have been witnessed by a hundred or more gentlemen and literary and scientific notabilities, and which are more astounding than anything which has happened, perhaps, for centuries. Passing over the usual manifestations, such as the raising of heavy bodies, playing on locked pieces, or so that the keys can not be touched, to move without fingers, I come to three or four distinct manifestations, the testimony to which is very difficult to get over. My informant is a man in every way reliable, and the other witnesses, whose names have been confidentially given me, not only belong to the highest circles of politics and society, but are men eminently capable of forming a correct judgment. These, then, are the facts related. In several instances the body of Mr. HOME has been elongated by mere movement upon the wall and lying on the floor to the extent of eight or nine inches, and then shortened as much—making a carefully measured difference of a foot and a half. He has been at different times raised into the air from the height of four feet to that of a higher ceiling, and carried round the room in the clear view of all present, who have had the means of assuring themselves that no deception was possible. He was carried horizontally out of a window in the third story of the house of Lord ——, and brought in at the window of another room, some thirty feet distant, having been carried through the air forty feet or more from the ground. Finally, he has on several occasions taken a large live coal from a coal fire, held it in his hand, and laid it in the hands of other persons, without even the smell of fire, or the sensation of heat being received by them. My informant showed me where his own finger had been burned in testing the reality of this manifestation. He assured me that he had seen Mr. HOME go to a large coal fire and lay his face upon the white hot coals, with others singing his hair in heard. As this is a pretty strong story, I beg to append the following, which I find in the Spiritual Magazine for this month. Mr. HALL is the well-known editor of the Art Journal—his wife, Mrs. S. C. HALL, is well known as a writer, and has lately received a pension from the Queen.

"No. 15 ASHLEY-PLACE, S.W., "Jan. 14, 1869.

"I first saw Mr. HOME in my drawing-room on the 15th of December, 1866. Mr. D. D. HOME has for years been my friend, and I have seen him frequently, and have witnessed many of his marvellous powers. Mr. D. D. HOME has always spoken of his gift as a God-given power, and never a word of charge has escaped his lips. Mr. HOME has on my hearth kindled a fire, and I have taken a piece of living coal—brought it out of the fire—and placed it in my hand. I did this to satisfy myself that there was no deception. Mr. HOME has also placed a live coal in my wife's hand, and she has held it in her hand. Mr. HOME has also placed a live coal in my hand, and I have held it in my immediately returned to Sanger. It had never passed through the bank; a dollar or money had never been paid on it, and, as far as it appeared to the Court, was of no more effect than if Sanger had signed it and kept it in his own possession. This was all the capital which appeared on the trial as having ever been put into the business. The Court charged the jury that it seemed to be a very plausible matter of the firm of "Moore & Ogden" after its organization, taking the precaution, however, in shipping goods to them, to have said goods sent to Poll (the managing partner of "Moore & Co." in San Francisco) unless previous advice was given by Moore (supposed Ogden's agent) to deliver the goods to Poll (the managing partner of "Moore & Co." in San Francisco) unless previous advice was given by Moore (supposed Ogden's agent) to deliver the goods to Ogden, the defendant; that his firm had a capital of $6,000, ten or fifteen thousand of which, Ogden, as said, had furnished. The firm of Moore & Co. began to be generally known as purchasers in the New-York market. Inquiries were made at the Commercial Agency for information as to their capital, &c. The references of the agency were Moore (supposed Ogden's agent) and the parties put down something like twenty-seven thousand dollars for the record of the partnership, and during time the agency wrote to Ogden to inquire if Moore's representations were true, to which Ogden replied that Moore handed him a letter directed to Ogden, to sign and send to the agency in reply, and he, which Ogden complied with. Ogden admitted the same, but showed this letter to Ogden, and that he admitted its truth, and said he would that it had been written. Ogden, an old man of nearly 80 years, was called on the stand for the defense, and testified that he had forwarded the letter on the request, relying on Moore that it would relieve him from all responsibility with the affairs of the firm of "Moore & Co." He also testified that he had never been a partner of "Moore & Co.," and had never so represented himself. Moore confirmed the testimony of Ogden as to their never having been partners. The Court charged the jury that "if the defendant had authorized Moore to use his name and had the defendant had acted on such a rumor to that effect, on which rumor plaintiff relied in giving credit to the firm of "Moore & Co.," the defendant was liable,—otherwise not.

The jury found a verdict in favor of defendant.

[Benedict & Burnham made for plaintiffs; Vose and McDaniel for defendant.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—Feb. 24.

Before Judge Monell and a Jury.

MARINE INSURANCE.

Duncan McColl and Samuel F. V. Polk vs. The Sun Mutual Insurance Company.—This case, which was noticed yesterday, was resumed at the opening of the Court this morning. In addition to the two points raised by the defense yesterday, viz., first, a violation of warranty in the policy as to the master's certificate, and second, as to variance from her course, there was raised to-day the addition al point, that, in proof of ownership, the registry was insufficient, while the plaintiffs claim deposited sufficient evidence to show the builder, and not Mr. Cornell as the owner. On this state of facts, defendants' counsel moved to dismiss the complaint on the grounds, first, a violation of warranty; second, deviation from her course, and third, a failure of proof of ownership. On the first point the Court held that, under a recent decision of the Court of Appeals, though a written contract should be entirely by parol supposing the agreement made by the agent of the Company, as or before the taking out of a policy, might operate as an estoppel to the defendants setting up a breach of warranty. On the second point, he held that there was sufficient evidence for the consideration of the jury. On the third point, that, in an action on a policy of marine insurance to whom it may concern, it is not necessary to prove the interest in the party for whose benefit it was taken out, and that such proof must be made outside the registry, and a failure to do so was fatal to the suit. The Court ruling on this his ruling on this latter point might be regarded as a surprise to plaintiffs, he would not dismiss the complaint, but permitted plaintiffs to discontinue and postpone the trial on payment of costs, and the jury, on this purpose directed the withdrawal of a juror.

ELIHU MES Dean and Mr. Butler for plaintiffs; Mr. Albert Mathews for owner; Joseph H. Choate for defendants.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Recorder J. K. Hackett.

In this Court, yesterday, John McLaughlin was tried for a felonious assault on his wife. He attempted to show that the charge was gotten up by his wife to get him out of the way. On the other hand, it appeared that he had previously been married to another woman, and had deserted her and five children. Evidently he was a bad character, and Recorder Hackett sent him to State Prison for four years and six months.

John Williams pleaded guilty of burglary in the third degree. An affidavit was read from his sister-in-law, declaring that he was a good man and a loving husband; that his wife was trying of misemployment; that he had left the house, and left for Boston; that he was a good man, and was discharged.

In view of the condition of the wife, sentence was postponed and the man discharged.

At the opening of the Court this morning the case of Thomas McMahon pleaded guilty of burglary, his previous conviction having been proved, he was sent up for one year in the State Prison.

Andrew Lynch pleaded guilty of petit larceny. As he accompanied the plea with several false statements, Recorder HACKETT's heart was hardened, and the sentence was four years in the State Prison.

Thomas Leonard and Thomas Trimble were broke in Benedicts window, was put off till to-day.

Elias Morris pleaded guilty of grand larceny, and was sent up for one year.

Charles St. in Forrest, for larceny, received sentence of two years in the State Prison.

Andrew Brenton, William Muly and Edward Shaw, three boys of tender years, were sent to the House of Refuge for burglary.

James McKenny was indicted for an attempt at burglary at No. 247 West Forty-third-street. There was no evidence of the attempt at burglary, but the prisoner was entered and the jury convicted him of trespass that he had climbed a ladder leading to the premises in obedience to the boyish instinct to climb ladders, and was coming down when he fell from the attention of the private watchman, The boy ran away and the watchman after him, firing a revolver at the boy.

John Daly pleaded guilty of petit larceny, and was sent to State Prison for two years and six months.

Margaret Smith was tried for stealing Thos. Kessler's watch from his pocket. She was found guilty and sent to the Penitentiary for one year.

The Court adjourned.

POLICE TRIALS.

Before Commissioner Bosworth.

Eighteen patrolmen were before Commissioner BOSWORTH yesterday to answer complaints for violation of the rules of the Police force.

CRAWFORD AGAIN.

Patrolman John H. Crawford, of the Sixteenth Precinct, was charged with failing to report the fact promptly when taken sick. Sergt. Adams stated the case with fairness and candor, and as Crawford had a good excuse the complaint was dismissed. This complaint could not be worthy of special notice, except that it is one of a series having somewhat remarkable characteristics, and already numerous at point of time. In one of these Sergt. Price's complaints were argued, because the officer came to the station-house and stayed but a minute and half; in another a Police Surgeon, with a version of what an ill-natured complaint might be found on all an almost nonsensical report, that the sick man must have been sick, because he was not intoxicated when he saw him, although he was not introduced to the man. As the officer had been sick himself under the influence of liquor, and claims that on the occasion referred to he had 8 reported sick, or his illness, not because of the potent influence of liquor, but because of the potent of death, it is fair to assume that the Commissioner will in rendering judgment give the case as favorable a construction as the peculiar circumstances will allow.

DRAWING OF PRIZES IN THE LOTTERY.

John Brown, vendor of Gift Enterprises, Long Island, was charged with the offense of selling tickets in the original package of a lottery, and with the offense of selling tickets in the original package of a lottery. Mr. Bedford stated that on the evening of the 16th instant, between 7 and 8 o'clock, he had visited the defendant's place of business, at which place he was offering for sale tickets, of which he has an office, and waiting for a friend, when he was accosted by a man connected with the office, who asked if he was a stranger. He replied in the affirmative. Officer Bedford then asked the man in the office, he acknowledged, did not sell the tickets. The officer requested Mr. Brown to purchase a ticket, and he did so, and received for it a card with no marks of violence. The officer then left a card with the defendant and the defendant (he believed) if the card was taken to the Station-house, he would take his recantant to the Station-house, he (Bedford) would make a report. The officer then (these to the Station-house, and was advised to get a warrant. He then went to Mr. Dan Bedford and got a warrant. He then went to Mr. Dan Bedford and got a warrant. He then went to the Station-house, and was advised to get the warrant. He then went to the Station-house, and was advised to get the warrant. He then went to the Station-house, and was advised to get the

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. TRUMBULL, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a number of petition, bills and resolutions. Mr. WILLIAMS, from the Private Land Claim Committee, reported adversely on the claim of WM. MCGARRAHAN, but said the Committee were unable to arrive at any decision, and must leave the matter wholly to the action of the Senate. The bill to admit, free of duty, philosophical apparatus, &c., was laid over. The President's veto of the Copper Tariff bill was read and the bill was then passed over the veto—yeas 38, nays 12. Mr. ANTHONY, from the Joint Committee on Printing, said the Committee had not decided on any action, but would leave Congress to decide between Mr. CROWELL and the Government Printing Office. After a long discussion the Committee were authorized to make a contract with Messrs. REVES and BAILY, present publishers of the Globe, for reporting and printing the debates and proceedings for two years. The Army bill was taken up next and several important amendments made to it. In the evening session, Mr. WILSON, as Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, called up a number of bills which were passed. Among them was one giving $1,000 to a colored spy and scout for four years' services during the war. At 10:50 the Senate adjourned.

In the House Mr. JULIAN, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill declaring that the lands constituting of the Fort Collins military reservation, Colorado Territory, shall be subject to the Preemption and Homestead laws. Passed. The bill to strengthen public credit and legalize gold contracts was taken up, and, after considerable discussion, in which Messrs. LOGAN, DELANO and BROOKS spoke in favor of, and Messrs. FRYE and CONZENS against the bill, it was passed—yeas 119, nays 41. By unanimous consent the House agreed after to-day to assemble at 11 A. M. instead of 12 M. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill, which received some important amendments. On motion of Mr. BLAIR the recent witnesses, D. W. REEVES and J. H. BELL, were discharged from custody. In the evening session, in Committee of the Whole, the consideration of the Legislative Appropriation bill was resumed, and a large number of amendments offered and rejected. No action was taken on the bill, and the House, at 11:30, adjourned.

GENERAL.

The naval expedition to La Guayaja has been completely successful, destroying the rebel works by bombardment and then capturing the situation by assault. A garrison of regulars was left in the town. Captain-General DULCE addressed the non-commissioned officers of the volunteers, and urged them to maintain order and discourage all dangerous agitation. A large number of rebel prisoners have been brought to Havana. Accounts from Santiago de Cuba state that the cholera is still raging, and the insurgents are destroying the plantations in that vicinity. Gen. INGERADO, of the insurgents, has issued orders to respect the property of French citizens.

It is rumored that the Post Office Department will soon place a line of postal cars on the route between New-York City and Montreal. There is considerable competition among river railroad companies to secure the line.

In the case of Officer TYLER, of Westfield, Conn., who on Sunday evening last shot and killed WILLIAM H. BELL, the Coroner's jury find that the shooting was justifiable. It appears that three non-Union cigar-makers were in a barber shop when they were set upon and beaten by a number of cigar-makers belonging to the Union, of whom BELL was one. Officer TYLER hearing the affray came to the scene as BELL and the others were running away. He summoned them to surrender, threatening to fire upon them if they did not. BELL replied with much bravado, continuing to run, whereupon the officer fired and BELL was killed. The affray was witnessed by a number of persons, including Gen. KHEATAN.

The Peruvian monitors sailed from Panascilo on the 16th inst., it is supposed for Peru. A number of young men from Pensacola and vicinity took service on board of them. The Cuban Government has been fearful that these monitors were designed to lead a filibustering expedition to Cuba.

The amount of the Illinois State debt paid in January, was $221,515 31. Amount called in by proclamation of Gov. PALMER, $207,000, payable in New-York on the 1st of April next. About $16,000 of the amount called in by Gov. OGLESBY's proclamation is yet outstanding, and will be paid on demand. The amount of debt maturing this year will be $2,301,515 31. The July interest to be paid in New-York will amount to between $600,000 and $700,000.

The Democratic Convention for the Third District of Connecticut met in New-Haven on Tuesday, and nominated ARIEL COWLES, of New-Haven, for Congress. Being notified, he replied by telegraph: "I am surprised. I accept. Thank you."

CHARLES ELSNER and AUGUST SCHWEGER, while drinking together in a saloon at Hamilton, Ohio, on Sunday night, got into a quarrel about a dog, which ended in ELSNER shooting SCHWEGER, killing him instantly.

Manager SMYTHE, of the American Theatre, at Pittsburg, was severely wounded on Monday night by being shot in the thigh by the Captain of a fire company, who had been ejected from the theatre by Mr. SMYTHE's order. ROBINSON, the assailant, immediately fled and has not been arrested.

On Sunday last a man named WILLIAM STUART was riding along the east side of the Catskill Mountains, when his horse, taking sudden fright, shied to one side and the horse, sleigh and driver were dashed upon the rocks sixty feet below. Mr. STUART was not found till Tuesday, having remained on the rocks two days and two nights in a dying condition.

A fire was originated in a store on Lake-street, Chicago, yesterday, by the spontaneous combustion of some varnish material. The flames spread rapidly, and before they could be extinguished $40,000 worth of property was destroyed.

Gen. SEWARD L. WOODFORD delivered an able and eloquent lecture on "Phil Sheridan," at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, before a large and appreciative audience, for the benefit of the charity fund of Post Rankin No. 10 of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The examination of NELSON LUCKY, the agent of BROWN & CO., bounty claim agents, for alleged fraud, was continued yesterday before United States Commissioner COMSTOCK. After several witnesses had been examined, the further hearing of the case was adjourned for one week.

A young man named VIRGIL S. KEEFE yesterday tried to shoot Miss CARRIE KING, in the store No. 378 Fulton-street, Brooklyn, where she was employed. She, however, evaded his aim, sustaining only a slight flesh wound, and he was arrested. It seems that he was incensed because she refused to receive his addresses.

The Workingwoman's Association held a meeting last night in the Cooper Institute. Speeches were made by Mrs. ERNESTINE L. ROSE, Mrs. HALLOCK, Mrs. Dr. LOZIER, Mrs. KING, Mrs. CLYMER, Miss McKINLEY, Miss DUNNING and Dr. HALLOCK.

The printers on strike arranged yesterday to hold a meeting to-night at No. 48 East Broadway, in furtherance of their projected cooperative association.

The Clothing-Cutters Union made arrangements last evening to hold a mass-meeting to-night at No. 10 Stanton-street, in order to announce that the recent strike of their craft has closed, and that their increased terms have been complied with.

Recorder HACKETT yesterday sentenced seven criminals, men, women and boys, to imprisonment for terms varying from one year to four years and six months. The charges were felonious assault, burglary and larceny.

Cotton was dull and lower yesterday. Breadstuffs were generally cheaper and not notably active. Provisions were in request; Pork and Lard advanced. Groceries salable and firm. Coal ruled much lower at the auction sale of Scranton. Freights were a shade stronger.

Gen. Grant and the Tenure of Office.

The Tribune asked us the following question day before yesterday:

"Does the TIMES imagine that if Gen. GRANT were to send to the Senate on the 6th of March names for every revenue place in the country, and say he had made the removals for 'the public good,' they would not be confirmed?"

What we "imagine" on this subject, we endeavored to state yesterday. What Gen. GRANT thinks about it, (and that after all may be the most important,) may be gathered from the remarks made by him in a conversation with some Pennsylvania gentlemen, which we copied yesterday from a Philadelphia paper. He is there reported to have said:

"'We all know what the Tenure-of-Office law was intended for. It was passed to prevent an Executive from using the offices at his disposal for corrupt purposes, but from what they did in Congress yesterday, I am disposed to think that the Senate will desire to be the judges in it what I shall do.' Another person. 'Well, if they do not repeal the law, I certainly cannot make any changes. I cannot remove a man without making charges of a character which would blast his reputation, and that would not be very agreeable, you know, and the result will be that the men who hold office now, will continue to hold them until the end of the term, no matter what my desires may be. Of course, this will save me all this office-hunting bother.'"

That strikes us as reasonably explicit as to what Gen. GRANT will do, and what he will not do, if the Tenure-of-Office law is not repealed. "The men who hold office now, will continue to hold them until the end of my term." How does the Tribune relish that prospect? How will it affect the public interests? Will it promote the collection of the public revenue, the retrenchment of public expenses, and the payment of the public debt?

The Tribune should bear in mind that the President can make no removals for any such reason as it supposes him to allege. During the recess of the Senate he can make no removals at all. All he can do is to suspend an officer, and designate some one else to perform his duties until the next meeting of the Senate, and, within twenty days after that event, he shall "report to the Senate such suspension, with the evidence and reasons for his action in the case; and if the Senate concur in such suspension, and advise and consent to the removal of such officer, they shall so certify to the President, who may thereupon remove such officer, and, by and with the consent and advice of the Senate, appoint another person to such office."

This is the language of the law; and it is very clear from it that the President cannot remove, or even suspend, any man from office upon any such vague and loose allegation as that he does it "for the public good." He must assign specific "reasons" and the "evidence" on which they rest, and then the Senate is to take the whole matter into consideration for the purpose of deciding whether they will allow him to make the removal or not. This certainly looks as if the Senate intended to "be judges as to what the President shall do,"—and not to allow him to make removals of any kind unless they think fit.

We are sure the Tribune has no desire to see Gen. GRANT thus fettered in his efforts to purify the public service. It knows too well the character of Mr. JOHNSON's appointees to office, and the extent to which the public service has suffered from their inefficiency and corruption, to desire to see any such obstacles interposed to prevent their removal. Gen. GRANT may save himself from being bored by office-hunters, if the Senate thus insist on keeping in office to the end of his term, all the men who are found in office at its beginning. But the people did not elect him President to save him from being bored. And they will not be satisfied to see him thus thwarted in the main objects he has been chosen to accomplish.

The Attorney-General and the Revenue Frauds.

The Senate made an attempt the other day to explore the recent mysterious movements of the Attorney-General in postponing the trial of Mr. FULLERTON,—who stands indicted in this district for conspiring to defraud a revenue officer, under color of authority from the Government,—by calling on that officer for his correspondence on the subject of postponing the trials of persons charged with revenue frauds. But the Senate took very little by their motion. Mr. EVARTS replied to their resolution, and put such a construction upon it as enabled him to evade the real inquiry, and give them no information whatever upon that point.

We published this correspondence yesterday morning; and our readers will have seen from it that Mr. EVARTS does not even allude to the Fullerton case, directly or indirectly, and that he seems to be profoundly ignorant that any such case has ever occurred. But he enters into very long and very verbose explanations of the reasons why he postponed the trials of BLAISDELL, ECKEL and others from time to time, until he could do so no longer, and also why he postponed the trials of MESSMORE and others of the Kentucky Bourbon Company, until they all ran away and thus escaped trial and punishment altogether. But of the Fullerton case he seems profoundly and suspiciously oblivious.

"The proceedings in regard to which inquiry was made," says Mr. EVARTS, "were for frauds upon the internal revenue, as I then understood and still understand." The offence for which Mr. FULLERTON was indicted was not for defrauding the internal revenue, but for conspiring to blackmail a revenue officer. Technically it may possibly be deemed beyond the scope of the Senate's inquiry, and Mr. EVARTS "so understands" it, and ignores it accordingly. But it may fairly be doubted whether the Senate will be satisfied with this evasion. They certainly ought not to be. The treatment of the Fullerton case has been more extraordinary, and has attracted more public attention and excited more public comment than that of all the other cases put together. The other cases were ended and dismissed from public thought long ago. Some of the indicted parties for whom the Attorney-General's intercession was invoked, have, in spite of it, been tried, convicted, and are now paying the penalty of their crimes in the Penitentiary. Others, availing themselves of the chance thus offered, have run away and are skulking beyond the sight or knowledge of the authorities and cannot be brought to trial. Mr. FULLERTON's trial is still suspended by order of the Attorney-General; it is thrown over for some reason or other beyond the limit of the present term of the Court; and Mr. FULLERTON is thus likely to enjoy the same impunity from any inquiry into his conduct which was secured to MESSMORE and his confederates. The Senate and the country would like to know why. And having failed in the effort to extract this information from the Attorney-General by their first resolution on the subject, we advise them to try the virtue of another. They may, with due care in the language of their inquiry, be more fortunate in their second attempt.

Mr. EVARTS may seem to be acting in FULLERTON's interest in this matter by screening him from trial on the very serious offence for which he was indicted as long ago as the 23d of November. But he is really doing that gentleman, "late a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New-York," a most serious injury by denying him the chance to establish his innocence, for which he proclaimed his eager anxiety in his card of Nov. 24. Mr. FULLERTON has himself, we are aware, exhausted the resources of legal skill and personal importunity to secure a postponement of his trial, with the evident purpose of escaping it altogether. But, if Mr. EVARTS is a friend of his, he can scarcely aid and abet him in such an effort; for there can be but one explanation of this studied and serious evasion of a trial, and that is the belief on his part that in no other way can he possibly escape conviction and punishment for the offence charged upon him.

We trust the Senate will immediately pass another resolution calling for the correspondence on that specific case; and if the Attorney-General does not furnish it, we hope our District-Attorney will.

Women Clerks.

Mr. SCOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, is in favor of giving all the places in the Departments at Washington to women, and then paying them the full wages of men. "The reason," he says, "why women did not command the same salaries as men was that nearly all the departments of labor were closed to them, and they were compelled to take smaller salaries than men—such salaries as they could get." We do not see the force of Mr. SCOFIELD's logic,—but we do see the folly of his plan. If the Government is a benevolent society, or a woman's rights association,—if its primary object is to afford employment to those who fail to get it elsewhere, or to establish the rights of women to special kinds of work,—his views may be sensible. But we do not so understand the functions of Government, or the duty of those who carry it on.

Economy in the public service is the pressing want of the day. If money can be saved by employing women instead of men, that is one good reason for employing them. If not, the wisdom of employing them must turn on other considerations. But if women insist on having the same wages as men, their chance of getting employment, either from Government or from other employers, is not brilliant. The officers of Government may give them work, at any price they may choose to ask,—for they pay it out of the purses of other people, and care little, therefore, how much they pay. But Government employ affords but a small resource to the great numbers of women who need and seek work somewhere. Unless they can open other channels, in which they may find work, this will be of little value. The general business of the world, such parts of it as are within their scope,—must be opened to them as it is to men. And the only way in which they can do this is by doing the work better, or by doing it for lower wages, than men. Either of these points of advantage will lead to their being employed in very many branches of labor which men monopolize now. But without some such superiority they cannot expect it. They must make it clearly to the pecuniary advantage of employers to give them work, or they will not get it.

Mr. FARNSWORTH, in the House, scorns to take low business views of this subject,—and is "ashamed" of those who do. But the great body of those who control the employment of labor will run the risks of that, and manage their business affairs to suit themselves.

Gen. Grant's Conversations.

The use which is made, especially in Pennsylvania, of Gen. GRANT's remarks in regard to his Cabinet appointments, reported a day or two since, shows the wisdom of his early resolution on this subject, declared in his official acceptance of the Presidency, and the propriety of a strict adherence to it. Everything he did say on that occasion has been exaggerated and misrepresented so as best to serve the personal ends of those who profess to repeat it, and much has been added which he did not say, for the accomplishment of the same ends. It is quite impossible that it should be otherwise, and yet a great deal of prejudice and ill feeling is excited in this way.

The country is not impatient of Gen. GRANT's reserve. The people are in no haste to know what he intends to do, and are quite willing to wait until he has done it, and until he sees fit to announce it to the public. They have unbounded confidence in his intentions and purposes, and are perfectly willing to leave him to work them out in his own way. It is only the politicians,—those who have personal ends to serve, and who care little about the means by which they may serve them,—who are impatient in the matter, and who seize upon every word that Gen. GRANT may drop, to make such impressions on the public mind as will best suit their purposes. Gen. GRANT is under no obligation to play the game of these men, which can best be thwarted by the absolute reserve he has thus far maintained.

Starvation as a Penalty for Political Heresy.

The proposition to refuse Commissioner WELLS his salary, because some of his views on questions of political economy do not suit the majority in Congress, shows how very much below their places men in office can be. The proposal came from a high protective tariff man of Pennsylvania,—one who is himself personally interested in having his business protected against competition, and whose sole cause of quarrel with Mr. WELLS is because he does not agree with him on this point.

That Mr. MOORHEAD should have made such a proposition does not surprise us, any more than that Mr. KELLEY should have supported it; but that the House should have passed it would have surprised us, if we had not remembered that it was only the reenactment of a similar indecency recently practiced in the case of Mr. HARVEY, our Minister in Portugal. That gentleman, during the early stages of the quarrel between the President and Congress, had written a private letter to Mr. SEWARD, in which he had expressed, in perfectly courteous language, his dissent from the views of Congress and his approval of the President's action. For this he had, as a matter of course, incurred the displeasure of Congress, and as that body had no power to remove him from office, the fertile genius of Mr. THAD. STEVENS proposed to starve him out of it by stopping his salary, and by dint of forcible domination he procured the support of Congress in this delightful scheme. The House passed the motion, the Senate concurred, and Mr. HARVEY has received no salary to this day.

The device is one capable of indefinite application. It suggests a cheap and easy way of getting out of office any man with whom Congress don't agree, or whose personal conduct is displeasing. We don't wonder that Mr. MOORHEAD should have borrowed it, for this special occasion. He is a large and wealthy manufacturer of Pennsylvania, and like all the rest he wants to be "protected." Mr. WELLS spent last Summer in Europe, collecting facts and figures which would illustrate the effect of protection on manufactures, the wages of labor and the general welfare of the people; and in his report, he publishes all the information thus acquired, and draws from it the inference that the public ought not to pay too high a tax, in order to "protect" Mr. MOORHEAD and his fellows.

The inference may, or may not, be sound, and the facts from which it is drawn may, or may not, be reliable. Both these are fair points for discussion. But Mr. MOORHEAD scorns all such resorts. He has a shorter and more conclusive mode of "refuting" Mr. WELLS' arguments and disposing of his statistics. He will stop his salary. He will starve him into belief in the doctrine of protection, and at the same time punish him for having ever doubted it, and for having said things which induce other people to doubt it. And as Mr. STEVENS succeeded in at once gratifying his own resentment and in compelling Mr. HARVEY to suit Portugal and come home in a state of starved admiration of the freedom of private opinion which prevails in this country, so Mr. MOORHEAD may fairly hope to drive Mr. WELLS out of the Commissionership of Internal Revenue, which he has made respectable and influential, and compel him to brood over his doubts about protection, in solitary retirement on bread and water. And to this the House assents!

We expect to see this plan of enforcing opinions applied to all departments of the Government. Why should a President who differs from Congress be allowed a salary? Why should a heretical Congressman, (that is to say, one who does not believe whatever the majority believes,) draw pay and mileage and eat as good a dinner as one of the elect? There must be a stop put to this sort of thing. There are some score or more of members who have become infected with Mr. WELLS' notions;—why should they not share his fate? Why should Mr. ALLISON be allowed to "defend the Special Commissioner," and still continue to draw his salary? And why, above all, should Mr. PIKE, of Maine, be permitted to support President JOHNSON's veto of the Copper Tariff bill, and still be allowed to eat and drink and pay for his dinner, like Christians and other good Protectionists?

The Darien Canal.

It is now understood that CALEB CUSHING's Colombia Canal Treaty has been examined by the Committee on Foreign Relations, and in a spirit which indicates unanimous recommendation of it to the Senate for adoption.

There never was any difference of opinion as to the commercial advantages of an artificial water communication across the Isthmus between the two great oceans; nor any doubt as to the fact that the annual tolls would promptly pay the cost of construction; nor any that this highway of the world's commerce must be built under the auspices of our Government. It has, however, been suggested that too close a connection in ownership has been given to the Colombian Government by the treaty, and too large a share in the pecuniary proceeds. On the other hand, it is clear that the concessions of Colombia demand ample remuneration; and as the entire control of the canal is vested in our Government, there can be no fear of undue interference on the part of Colombia.

We cannot doubt that the moment the Senate ratifies the treaty the enterprise will be taken up with vigor and enthusiasm. It is a marvelous, a stupendous undertaking. The route is, at shortest, thirty miles, at longest but forty; but the cloud-capped Cordilleras stretch athwart that route, and to tunnel them is the most audacious physical work that human ambition has ever attempted, and the most arduous that has ever confronted even modern engineering.

Still, the vast profits which will crown success insure success; the more especially as the difficulties, though great, are not insurmountable. It has only been needed hitherto to bring the proper forces of State-craft, of commerce, of capital, and of engineering genius into harmonious action. And this, we believe, though the great enterprise twenty times tried has as many times failed, is now on the point of accomplishment. Such, also, appears to be the general conviction, which, instead of holding to the opinion of the Albany Argus that this project "will be buried in the grave of other abortions," seems rather to be of the mind of the Tribune, that "Mr. SEWARD has achieved a great success" in these negotiations, and "has linked his name with what may prove one of the grandest physical achievements of the age."

Sales of Ships to Belligerents.

The bill declaratory of the law relating to the sale of ships to belligerents, has again come up before the Senate—in fact two such bills, one reported by the Committee on Commerce, and the other by the Committee on Foreign Relations.

It strikes us that this is an appropriate moment for the Senate to consider this subject, provided it has time. That body is now about to reject the Alabama Claims Treaty, on the ground that it does not represent sufficiently the measureless moral turpitude of Great Britain, in recognizing the Confederate States as belligerents, and in allowing them to be provided from its domains with naval material of war. Yet the same Congress has already had one proposition before it to "recognize" the Cuban insurgents as belligerents; another proposition to "protect" Cuba; another to "recognize" the Fenians; another one, which was adopted, giving sympathy and moral support to the Cretan insurgents; while, not long ago, under an enabling act of Congress, two of our iron-clads were sold by the Navy Department, through a broker, to Peru, at that time engaged in a war with Spain. Senator CHANDLER himself, who introduced the "declaratory bill" referred to, was somewhat conspicuous for his desire to "recognise King THEODORUS," not long ago.

It makes a difference whose ox is gored. Money cannot settle the damages inflicted by nations which give aid and sell ships to our insurgents—to belligerents whom we are fighting. But if it comes to Cuba, Crete or Canada, to Peru, Ireland or Abyssinia, of course the case is different. Upon the whole, we think a "declaratory act" of what we do hold on the subject of sales of ships to belligerents, is much needed.

We hear constant calls from enthusiastic Philhellenic meetings, to "send iron-clads" to Crete; the Spanish authorities in Cuba are in just dread lest the two Peruvian monitors once intended to bombard Havana, should fulfill that intent after all; the friends of Greece in America lately gave out, with the utmost confidence, that Greece would not accept the results of the Paris Conference, but, from the proceeds of her recent $20,000,000 loan, would buy "six American ships," and that "some of our leading builders had been approached" on the subject; and still later, the Herald of Paris asserted also as a matter of course, that the President of the Cretan Provisional Government would endeavor to buy iron-clads, to carry on the revolt, repairing to the United States for that purpose.

"To the United States," of course. But is it not time for us to square our law with our theories, our speeches with our statutes? Granted that the offense of furnishing ships to insurgents against friendly Powers is as great as we avow, let us not attempt to make our legislation a game of "heads I win, tails you lose." Or, at least, let our own practice conform to what we demand of other nations.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue—A Good Start.

We learn from good authority that Gen. GRANT has notified Hon. COLUMBUS DELANO, Member of Congress from Ohio, of his purpose to appoint him Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in place of Mr. ROLLINS, who intends to resign. We congratulate the country on this selection. It is one which cannot fail to increase the efficiency, and secure the absolute integrity, of that most important branch of the public service.

Mr. DELANO was a member of the Thirty-ninth Congress, and took a prominent part in the discussion of the various important topics that came up for its action. In the subsequent election he ran against Gen. MORGAN, who received the certificate, but was thrown out by the House on the ground that he was elected by fraudulent votes, and Mr. DELANO was admitted to his seat.

Mr. DELANO is one of the ablest and most effective debaters in the House—a man thoroughly informed on all the leading topics that demand and engage public attention, of unsuspected integrity and admirably calculated to administer with success the very important department which is thus to be placed under his charge. He has always been a thorough-going Republican, but never ultra or extreme in his party views. His moderation of action and his fairness of judgment were alleged against him, by the more zealous and unthinking members of his own party, during his Congressional canvass.

This is the first authorized announcement of Gen. GRANT's intended appointments. It is a good beginning, and we have no doubt it will be followed by other selections equally good in themselves, and equally satisfactory to the country.

MINOR TOPICS.

These are terrible times for Gen. GRANT. The "pressure" of politicians, representing all sorts of interests, is tremendous. He would find New-York a pleasant relief from now till next Wednesday night.

We suppose we must accept as true the protest of JAY GOULD that he would not accept the Secretaryship of the Treasury; and the positive declaration of C. S. SPENCER that he has already declined the Attorney-Generalship; and the fierce asseverations of G. F. TRAIN that he has never been offered the Secretaryship of State; and the denial of H. GRELEY that he desires the Postmaster-Generalship; and the insinuation of "G. W. R." that he has the Navy Department under consideration. We are, of course, bound to take the word of any and all these parties in regard to matters of which they ought to know. But what will the country people think?

We understand that an able engineering officer, who was chief of staff of one of the prominent Generals of the rebel army of the Southern Confederacy, left this country for Cuba, some time ago, to take a leading position in the command of the Cuban revolutionary forces. There are reports from the South that many of the old rebel officers are eager to find their way to Cuba.

A bill has passed the Senate to establish as a post route the proposed bridge between New-York and Brooklyn. No provision, however, was made for the postal service upon it. How mails can be carried on a proposed bridge we do not exactly understand, nor are we aware what rates per mile, or per day, the proposed owners of the proposed railroad, which is to cross it, will feel at liberty to charge. Probably it is intended that the contract for the proposed service shall be made, and payments under it commence at once. In that way the cost of the bridge may be met without calling on stockholders for any money. But will it not be quite time to declare the bridge a post route when it is built? A bridge which is only proposed, strikes us as rather an unsubstantial post route.

We suppose the very unfriendly action of Congress toward Mr. WELLS, the Commissioner of Revenue, has been intended mainly to destroy the prospect he was supposed to have of being appointed as Secretary of the Treasury in Gen. GRANT's Cabinet. The very great knowledge he has shown himself possessed of, in regard to questions of revenue and finance, and the marked ability he has displayed in his own Department, were widely recognized as qualifications that indicated him for the Treasury, and the extensive use that has been made of his name in that connection was regarded as strengthening the chances of his appointment. But the feeling displayed in the House in regard to the printing of his report, and the action that was taken on Tuesday in striking out the appropriation for his salary and the expenses of his office, (thereby abolishing it,) show very clearly that Congress does not intend that President GRANT shall be allowed the liberty of appointing him to a place in the Cabinet. Mr. WELLS' terrible display of facts against high tariffs and close monopolies is the sole ground of opposition to his appointment to office.

The organ of female suffrage—the Revolution—is in favor of women riding velocipedes, "as the velocipede can be ridden at first in no other possible way than astride, and fashion-worshiping ladies will easily overcome all delicate scruples about the manner of riding." A great many efforts are made nowadays to get ladies to overcome all delicate scruples. But, after the loss of delicacy—what?

If those individuals in Washington, calling themselves "prominent friends of Gen. GRANT," who propose to erect, on the southern portion of the Treasury Department, an equestrian statue of the General, which has been modeled by a Boston artist, built of cannon captured by GRANT, with a granite pedestal, and costing $25,000 literal, $50,000 heroic, or $75,000 colossal, desire to pay for it out of their own pockets, there will be no objection to its erection. But we fear that if the project is to be at the cost of the Government, it can't pass Congress. If passed now, President JOHNSON would veto it, and if passed at the next session of Congress, President GRANT would certainly veto it. He would oppose the granting of money for the purpose, and he would oppose the granting of cannon for the purpose. As long as Gen. GRANT lives, he will be his own best statue.

The Chinese inhabitants of California are almost wholly of one sex, and as there are no surplus women of any race or kind on the Pacific coast, the Chinese have repeatedly attempted to bring from their own country a supply of the female sex. But this has always been resisted by the American people of California on the ground that these women were prostitutes. The Chinese, however, insist that the Americans have no right to pass judgment of this sort, and allege that the females whom they wish to bring over are fair specimens of their country women, and possessed of quite as good morals as ordinarily prevail among the sex in China. The quarrel has reached its climax within the last day or two, when a ship-load of Chinese women arrived at San Francisco; and as the local authorities refused them permission to land, the Chinese took measures to secure them by force. It is hard on John Chinaman; but, hard though it be, we must withdraw our sympathy with the determination of the people of California to keep out the pestilent swarms of Chinese women, possessed of Chinese morals, who are ready to come over to the Pacific coast.

If the corrupt officers who have been plundering the revenue continue to be kept in office after the beginning of the next Administration, the people will know that the Senate is to blame, and that upon the Senate will devolve the responsibility for all the ruinous corruption. It is the Senate which refuses to give GRANT the power to remove imbecile and corrupt office-holders, and which keeps upon the statute book a law that must embarrass all his efforts to purify the public service. GRANT himself says:

"If they do not repeal the law, I certainly cannot make any changes. I cannot remove a man without making charges of a character which would blast his reputation, and that would not be very agreeable, you know, and the result will be that the men who hold office now will continue to hold them until the end of the term, no matter what my desires may be."

The Senate has taken upon itself a terrible responsibility for corruption.

It seems that the Spanish Government is not satisfied with the conduct of Captain-General DULCE in Cuba; and it is announced from Madrid that he has been superseded by Gen. DE RODA. DULCE's policy has been changeable during the brief period of his command. When he reached Cuba, he found that the rebellion had broken out against the severely repressive measures of the old Bourbon régime, and therefore he felt himself justified in attempting Liberal measures, similar to those which had been established in Spain itself by the Revolutionary Government. He announced reforms of all kinds, freedom of the Press, and amnesty to rebels. But after this policy had been tried for two months, and its failure was evident, he again resolved to adopt measures of severity, which are at present being enforced. He will now hear that he is to be superseded, just as he has given assurances of his success to the Spanish Government. When Gen. DE RODA assumes command, we shall doubtless see a hot and sanguinary campaign against the rebellion.

We think that Hon. JOSEPH HOLT, of Washington, is a very able man; but he is all present "pressed" for the Treasury Department, the War Department and the Attorney-Generalship, and we cannot suppose that any man is possessed of such an amount of genius as to make him equally fit for all three. He is almost certain to be left out in the cold altogether if his friends continue to mismanage his interests in this way.

Alta Vela has been kicked out of the Senate, as it ought to have been. It has been a corrupt job from the beginning; and its nature was not improved by the attempt that was made to use it as a force in impeachment. Probably Judge BLACK is not now very proud of the bouquet de guano that Alta Vela has left around his name.

Don DOMINGO SARMIENTO has already realized for his Argentine Republic—covering nearly six times as much ground as all our ten Eastern States put together—some advantage from the war with Paraguay. He is assuming the Chaco region, a march country of pampas and prairies lying on the confines of Bolivia and Paraguay, and long disputed by the latter, and at the same time putting steamers on the Vermejo River, which, running through the above region, falls into the Paraguay. These will ply between the head waters of the Vermejo and Buenos Ayres. The Don goes to the Paraguay, which is his natural frontier, and makes a natural use of it; without waiting for the diplomatists to settle the general difficulty. He was probably afraid he should have to wait too long for anything like settlement in that part of the world.

Don HENRY of Bourbon and the Duke of MONTPENSIER have been assuming the attitudes of "the lion and the unicorn," in traditional story who are always "fighting for the crown," and the Don says he would cheerfully confront his enemy to enemy, if he came across him. But as that is out of the question, he goes at him with a pen, and warns him that if he comes on his (Don HENRY's) ground of Spain, he shall meet the fate of MAXIMILIAN. This is also a truculent hint to all Savoyards and Braganzas within hearing. Don HENRY further declares, that the foreigners who would help MONTPENSIER are the very conspirators who would depose NAPOLEON III.—a politic suggestion meant, of course, to conciliate the Emperor in some degree. But the Don's chance in the competition is a weak one—and MONTPENSIER's is weaker still.

The Japanese are imitating the Chinese in a very notable way. They are turning their backs upon the Powers of the Old Continent and taking up with the Americans in preference to the rest of mankind. The Mikado's Government has very wisely employed Lieut. GRINNELL, late of our navy, as Chief of the Marine Department of Japan, and made Gen. FRANK Commander-in-Chief of the Imperial Army. These appointments are much more significant than that of FO-TAJEN BURLINGAME, as Ambassador to the outsiders; and the policy that prompts them all, in that outspoken way, will probably have a very decided effect on the future fortunes of those two old monarchies. In this case, also, "a new world has come very effectively into existence, to redress the balance of the old;" but in a way GEORGE CANNING never dreamed of, and would not very much like if he were living now.

What has come over the cats and dogs? They are all sick in Belgium, as the newspapers tell us, while great numbers of the latter go mad in this country—especially on Long Island. Some persons argue that the evil of a mad dog's bite is mainly in the imagination, acting on the nerves. But bitten persons will forget a bite for weeks before the crisis. The dog-poison is a deadly reality which cannot be explained away; though when weak it may be counteracted by a healthy system. Its virulence is, no doubt, proportionate to the condition of the suffering animals so ignorantly or savagely treated for the most part. Dogs should be banished from cities, like their betters, the pigs. Or, Congress should tax them, like other useless luxuries, and then set Mr. WEBSTER at the owners.

Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON arrived in Glasgow Feb. 8. On Feb. 10 he met the Glasgow Chamber of Commerce, who presented him with an address which expressed their sense of the importance of maintaining friendly relations with the United States, their appreciation of his exertions toward the solution of existing differences, and a hope that at no distant day the United States would recognize the benefits of free trade. Mr. JOHNSON, in reply, said the object of his recent exertions had been to bring about a settlement of differences equally honorable to both nations. This, he believed, had been accomplished by his having been met in a corresponding spirit by the Foreign Secretaries. Without good to free trade, he remarked that when the United States were brought to see that it gave this country an advantage over them, they would not be slow to adopt it. In the afternoon Mr. JOHNSON was presented in the City Hall with an address to Mrs. JOHNSON, in which he thanks her for his services. In reply he said he had from the beginning of his mission availed himself of every suitable occasion to cultivate the friendship of Her Majesty's subjects, and to remind them of the duty of entertaining friendly feelings for the United States. AFFAIRS IN CUBA.

General Review of the Military and Political Situation—Progress of the Revolutions—Recovery of the Lost Cables.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, Feb. 20, 1869.

The alarm of last week in regard to the near proximity and dangerous demonstrations of the insurgents in the district around about Havana, and between Remedios, Villa Clara, Cienfuegos and Gilnez, seems in a great measure to have died away, and confidence to be restored; that the most important part of the Island, the sugar district, has not yet been secured to the rebels. The different accounts now received of affairs from the places where the insurgents have been or are said to be, are of a less alarming character, and tend to show that the Spaniards are gaining ground and are unalterable in the determination to put down this rebellion. The self-satisfied content now visible in the pages of the leading Spanish journals, presents an amusing contrast to the alarm given by their articles of a week ago, when the reports of thousands of insurgents congregated at Villa Clara demanding autonomy, and of things everywhere, frightened them so that they fairly shrieked for more men, more money, to put down this revolution. But the recent arrivals of troops from the mother country, and the fact that more are expected, and all before the mind, the day to which many eyes are anxiously turned, be then the "forty days' grace" are up, and the encouraging news received from the different columns in the field, while the scarcity of further exciting news from the insurrectionary forces, and the recent proclamations of Gens. DULCE and ROSERIO, all tend to animate the Spanish mind in the belief that the revolution is on its last legs. It seems that Gen. DULCE has shown a disposition in his recent orders to throw a sop to the cerebus which represents the Spanish interests, and consequently a change of feeling is perceptible. The annulled liberty of the Press has prevented any further side attacks upon the acts of the Spaniards, which fretted and worried them for the month during which that liberty was enjoyed, and the return to the ancient order of things seems to give them general satisfaction. But notwithstanding this apparent change among the rulers of the island, the natives have not a whit abated the fears of fearful and sanguinary scenes again occurring in Havana. As many as can, leave for the United States, making arrangements to take away as much money as possible.

THE INSURRECTION.

The present situation of affairs, without giving any lengthy details, may be comprised in the following: Notwithstanding that the important districts of Santiago de Cuba and Guantanamo are supposed to be fully protected by the Spanish troops, occasional bands of insurgents make raids through their lines, burning and destroying plantations, and skirmishing. The main body of the insurgents appear to have retired from the extensive district between Santiago de Cuba and Bayamo, for the columns under command of Cols. QUIROZ and VELASCO are reported to have marched from the first place to Jiguani and Bayamo without having met the enemy. It is asserted through different channels that AGUILERA and CESPEDES, with the greater part of their following, have fallen back upon the Holguin District, encamping on the extensive farms between Nuevitas and Gibara, and that the principal object of this movement is to withdraw as much as possible from any encounter with VALMASEDA's forces, and to open communications with the insurgents of the Puerto Principe district, as also that the said farms were well stocked with herds of cattle, and are in a line of the coast. Among the different leaders of the Puerto insurgents, it is said there is not the best accord with the claim of AGUILERA and CESPEDES for a dispatch to obey their orders. QUESADA is supposed to be the only one who is willing to be guided by the Dictator-General, and all the other chiefs are independent enough to act on their own account, and without submitting to the orders of the Dictator. The last direct news from Puerto Principe is only to the 20th January, and affairs were then in the same state as before, save a growing scarcity and want of the necessaries of life. The city is garrisoned by 1,000 men, troops and volunteers, and no attempt had been lately made against it by the enemy. From Moron, Remedios and Sancti Spiritus, no further disturbances have been reported, except that a small band which rose in the town of Banao, in the last-named district, repented and took refuge in the amnesty. Private letters from Cienfuegos state that on the 16th inst. the insurgents tore up the railroad between that city and Villa Clara, to a great extent, between Palmira and Sta Cruces, near the estates called "Hornigueros" and "Fiera," and cut off all communications between the two places. The trains now run only as far as Palmira, a few miles from Cienfuegos. Considerable excitement exists in the city, and defences and barricades are being erected in the outskirts, and all are on the qui vive. It is feared that communication with Havana is now only limited to the Baiboro steamer. The insurgents are active, and showing themselves in numerous parties in different quarters. A few days since one party of them captured a small steamer which was used in plying on the Damuji River, and several of the lighters used to bring the produce from the sugar plantations, lining both sides of the river, to town, have also been captured by them. Communication by rail with Sagua, and through St. Domingo with Havana, is now entirely cut off. The supply of water from the Damuji to Cienfuegos was feared would also be cut off by the insurgents. No reliable accounts have either been received from the troops which left Cienfuegos a short time since, in the direction of Manzanaga and Villa Clara. As far as known, the sugar estates have yet suffered no injury, save those which have been visited by roving bands of insurgents have been despoiled of arms, provisions and all the live stock, particularly horses. The insurrection in the western part of the island is supposed to be confined between the hills of Mariscaragua and the Zapata Swamp. This swamp is situated on the north side, directly in the rear of the important line of railroad between Colon, Matanzas and Funza, connecting with Havana, and is intersected by numerous paths and bridle roads, by which the insurgents can readily evade the vigilance of the troops sent to operate against them. It seems to be their intention to congregate in a large number in that vicinity and make an attempt against Funza, the important half-way station between Havana and Matanzas, and expect to meet with aid from that district, as signs of discontent have already been shown there.

THE SECOND CUBAN CABLE RECOVERED.

When the Norna laid the second cable last year, she met with the misfortune of being carried away with the strong current, and as a natural consequence paid out too much cable and unable to reach shore. The Company then made immediately the necessary preparations to grapple for the lost cable, under the able superintendence of Sir CHARLES BRIGHT, as well and favorably known as the Chief Engineer and leading spirit of the Atlantic and many other submarine cables, the President of the Company Gen. W. F. SMITH (Baldy) leading his personal aid until success crowned their efforts. The Company chartered the paddle-wheel steamer New Engineer, 200 tons, formerly a small steamer running as a mail boat between Dublin and Holyhead—afterward used as a blockade-runner and captured, then turned into a United States gunboat, afterward sold by Government, and purchased by the Persian brotherhood in New-York, and lying short time past at Boston, then chartered by her present owners to the Telegraph Co. She left New-York on the 21st of December last, after fitting at the Novelty Works, where the machinery for picking up the cable was made, under the personal supervision of Sir CHARLES BRIGHT. The telegraph cable (strand) measures including one mile of heavy shore end,) was made at the Silvertown Cable Works, at North Woolwich, near London. The grappling rope, 3,000 fathoms on board, is composed of sixteen steel wires laid up in strands of four wires, each wire being composed of twelve fibres. The weight in air 1½ tons per 1,000 fathoms and breaking strain 12½ tons. The rope is joined up in lengths of 200 fathoms, with shackles and swivels between each rope. In grappling at the bottom about twenty fathoms of chain are attached, with the grapnel at the end. The machinery on board is very similar to that used on board the Great Eastern in picking up and laying the Atlantic Cable.

The Cable was finally hitched up on the evening of the 15th inst.; the ship lay to the Cable all night, and started running into shore at day light on the morning of the 16th, the cable being landed at Cojimar, three and one-half miles east of Havana, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the 16th, with the assistance of a tugboat. The depth of water was 315 fathoms; the strong current offered the only obstacle, and the irregularity of the bottom and uniformity of the current delayed the completion of the work for several weeks. The combination of circumstances made the success unparalleled in submarine telegraphy—in fact, dragging the Atlantic Cable of 1865, which was fished up the following year, the depth is greater than any other achievement of the kind. In the case of the Atlantic Cable, there was the current and a smooth bottom. The cable having been laid that year, which picked up was the same as when left, the deposit from Mississippi was insufficient to be perceptible. The grapnel with which the cable was picked up, is the same which brought up the Atlantic Cable. The insulation is perfect, and presents some curious features, showing the progress made in the manufacture of gutta percha since 1865 in the insulation of the Persian Gulf cable is 450,000,000 units per knot; that of the Atlantic cable about 200,000,000 units, the first Cuban cable about 1,300,000,000, while the second cable shows the unprecedented result of 2,000,000,000 units, or almost twice as much as the Atlantic Cable. Sir CHARLES BRIGHT and Gen. SMITH leave here to-morrow for New-York. QUASIMODO.

ALBANY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Wednesday, Feb. 24, 1869.

The Senate was occupied in Committee of the Whole, Senator HALE in the chair, to-day, in discussing the bill of Mr. STANFORD for abolishing the canal contract system, and substituting therefor a modification of the old system of Superintendent and Commissioners. Mr. STANFORD urged the passage of the bill and showed the increased cost of canal repairs since the contract system went into operation. The Committee reported progress, and the discussion will be resumed to-morrow.

IMPORTANT TO SAVINGS BANKS.

Senator PALMER introduced a bill to-day entitled "An act to regulate and restrict the organization of savings banks." It provides that hereafter a notice of intention to apply for a charter shall be inserted in at least one paper in the town or city where the bank is to be located, and a certificate shall be filed with the Superintendent of the Bank Department, sixty days before the organization of the Legislature. The Superintendent is required to report to the Legislature, within fifteen days after its organization, what notices of charters have been filed in his office. This bill is designed to prevent the Legislature from granting charters to irresponsible parties, and also the location of a bank where there are too many already.

STEAM RAILROAD FOR NEW-YORK.

The Assembly Railroad Committee to-day reported favorably a bill authorizing the New-York Railroad Company to construct an underground and elevated railway to be run by steam in New-York City from the Battery to 42d street, Harlem River. The route of the proposed road is parallel with Broadway on the west side to Canal-street; thence through Greene to Bleecker, across Bleecker and west of the avenue to Fourteenth-street; thence west of Seventh and Eighth avenues to Sixty-fourth-street; thence west of Ninth-avenue to High Bridge. It is the same bill with modifications that has been before previous Legislatures, and is generally known as Swain's bill. Instead of a three-story road as provided in previous bills, the present bill proposes a two-tier road, one underground for freight and the other elevated for passengers. The Company are to purchase the right of way, which will be through blocks of buildings, not interfering with street except to cross them. The commissioners named in the bill by the Committee require the Company to secure a bona fide subscription to the capital stock to the extent of 25 cents, ten per cent. of which is to be paid in, and deposited in a trust company as a preliminary to any work done under the charter.

TO THE GAS COMPANY PROPOSAL.

A resolution was adopted requiring the several gas companies of New-York and Brooklyn to report to the Assembly within ten days, the total amount of money held by them as deposits from the consumers of gas.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Women rights have found a champion in Mr. HATCHELOR, Democrat, of New-York, who offered a resolution laid over under the rules, directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State providing that no person shall be denied the right of suffrage on account of sex.

ANOTHER VETO.

Veto No. 3 was sent in by the Governor at the session last evening and laid on the table for future action. The grounds of the veto are the same as the other two—the impolicy of special legislation to accomplish objects that can be attained by general laws. The effect of these successive vetoes of the Governor will be to cause committees to scrutinize more closely the bills before them, and where the object to be gained is provided for by general laws, to reject them.

The Assembly transacted little business to-day beyond the third reading of bills, none of which were of general interest.

Prof. GOLDWIN SMITH and Gen. SIGEL were admitted to the privilege of the floor to-day, and were present during a part of the session.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Wednesday, Feb. 24.

At the special session of the Assembly this evening, the bill raising a tax of 6 cents for the extension of the Chenango Canal was discussed in Committee of the Whole, and ordered to a third reading.

The proposed modification of the Metropolitan Excise law was discussed before the Committee on Internal Affairs this afternoon, Gen. SIGEL, Mr. PLUNKETT, Mr. HATCHMAN and Mr. OLLIDORFER advocating, and Rev. Mr. TAYLOR opposing amendments. The amendments asked for by the Germans are to allow liquor saloons to open on Sundays after 1 P. M., to keep open on week days till 1 A. M., and to stop arbitrary arrests by the Police for violations of the law. Some modifications will doubtless be made in the law, but the Sunday prohibitory clause is not likely to be changed.

Southern Railroad Legislation.

From the Tribune.

ALBANY, Tuesday, Feb. 23, 1869.

The Railroad Committee of the Assembly have agreed to report favorably Gen. SWAIN's Two-tier Railroad Bill; but they have incorporated in its provisions certain principles which, if they form the basis of a law, will prevent any persons from getting a railroad charter merely to sell it or to use it as a real estate speculation. These provisions require that the public shall have the privilege of subscribing to all the stock; that the $5,000,000 of it must be subscribed, ten per cent. of which must be paid in by Jan. 1, 1870, before the company can commence to build the road.

Mr. J. BANCROFT DAVIS, of the Railroad Committee, has drawn up a bill to present to the Assembly, in which the principle is recognized that as all people of the State grant these railroad franchises, they should directly reap the benefit. He proposes to create a Commission, consisting of MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, EDWIN D. MORGAN, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ALEX. H. DYESS, ELIJOT F. SHEPARD, and others and to associate together with the Mayor, State Engineer and the President of the Croton Board, as ex officio members. Every two years two shall retire, and their places are to be supplied by the Legislature. They will have authority to survey and lay out a plan for a railroad either underground or elevated, as they may deem proper, and file the same in the County Clerk's office, and that of the Secretary of State. Said railroad must cross the Harlem River, and be established on avenues that will most benefit the people of the City. The Commission shall also have the power of the cost of the property to be taken for the use of the road, and the cost of building it, and the question is then to be submitted to the people next Fall, at the general election, whether or not the Commissioners shall issue mortgage bonds running eighteen years, principal and interest payable in coin, interest at 7 per cent, and also convertible at the end of the time into scrip paying six per cent, currency, to the total amount of the cost of the road. If the people shall decide in the affirmative, the Commission is then to go on and build the road. All moneys realized from the road over the actual cost of construction are to go into the Treasury of the State, to pay the bills on the bonds originally existing in the State debt. After that is paid, one-half of the net earnings is to go into the State Treasury, and the other half into a sinking fund to pay the principal of the debt. The road is to be operated by the City, that the people of the City may share in the benefits of a public road, and that the State may share in the profits of a profitable one, and that the State and people may reap the benefits than private speculators, and that if the subject is properly presented next Fall, the people will vote that the investment proposed will be a profitable one for the State Treasury.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

VERDI evidently is not the fashionable color this season. "Ernani," as a rule, draws a good house, but last night it failed. The attendance was poor. Perhaps it was of respectable parents. Of the opera there is little to be said. The regular pieces were encored, and the finale to the third act had to be repeated. Mme. STRAGNA sang superbly, as she always can do when the opportunity for voice is presented to her. Signor ANTONUCCI was admirable and impressive as Don Silva. The Brunet of Signor BONETTI was a respectable performance, but lacked force—which is the quality most needed in the role. He sang, however, with great discretion, and with an intelligence and effect which compensate for lack of power. The new baritone, Signor RENDA, has a powerful baritone voice, which possesses, perhaps, unknown sources of delight. The gentleman was dazed last evening, and deducted from correct intonation laxidity and steadily. In the finale to the third act he was heard to the best advantage, and displayed qualities which we think may give him a good if not prominent position before the public. The orchestra and chorus were good.

On Friday night "La Favorita," with LAGRANGE, will be given for the only time. On Monday Miss KELLOGG commences her farewell performances.

WILL SELL ON

MONDAY, MARCH 15,

AT 12 O'CLOCK, AT EXCHANGE SALESROOM, NO. 111 BROADWAY,

FORTY-EIGHT PARCELS OF LAND

CONTAINING ABOUT

181 LOTS,

ESTATE OF LEWIS G. MORRIS.

The demand for semi-rural residences must be considered not only a prominent characteristic of the present activity in real estate, but is also evidence that the increasing population of the City of New-York will make its suburbs indispensable auxiliaries. It is not doubted that part of Westchester County, embraced by the contemplated sale, will become a part of the great and growing City of New-York.

The great feature of Westchester County at present, in this connection, viewed from a City standpoint, is the

which is one of the broadest and finest avenues in the world for the general characteristics of dimensions, locality and the beauty of surrounding and adjoining scenery.

It commences on the northerly side of Harlem River, directly opposite the termination of the 7th-av. Grand Boulevard and 155th-st., and is connected with this City by the Central bridge, which spans the river at that point. The commencement of Central Park, when this road shall be placed under their control, will lay out several streets and avenues, and connect them by bridges with the boulevards on New-York side.

The probable consolidation of this part of Westchester County with New-York City, the popularity of Central-av. as a drive, the proximity of the Harlem and 3d-av. cars, and the proposed underground railroad, make it at once desirable for building purposes or for investment. The location of the property is superb, and a fine view of Centralav. is presented from all points. For maps and further particulars, apply to the auctioneers.

Singular Case—A Dead Wife Deserted by Her Husband.

Coroner WARREN, of Jersey City, received information yesterday from the residents of the house No. 314 South Eighth-street, to the effect that the body of a woman had for the past few days been locked in in a room of that house, and that the husband of the deceased had absented himself, with what object could not be ascertained. The Coroner repaired to the mysterious room, broke open the door, and, in company with others, walked in. A coffin contained the body of a female, which presented no evidence of decomposition, and retained a remarkably natural appearance. It appears that the woman was Mrs. FRANCIS GREEN, wife of GEORGE W. GREEN. On the morning of the 15th inst. she was delivered of a child, which died the same evening; and she was allowed to remain in the bed with it for four days. GREEN seems to have been the only attendant on his wife during that time. On Friday last the dead infant was taken from its mother's side, coffined and buried. On Sunday night Mrs. GREEN died, and on Monday the body was inclosed in a coffin. After this was done, GREEN locked the apartments, left the house, and has not since been heard of. His wife an earnest by professed, and a man of dissipated habits, and his conduct leads to the belief that he has become insane.
